

St. John's Eaglet

Thanks to the generosity of our members, our restored steeple is adorned with St. John's Memorial Cross. Celtic in style, this beautiful copper cross declares that our parish stands to proclaim the love of Jesus Christ to those around us. The plaque which lists the names of those in whose memories this cross have been given will be unveiled on Sunday, October 28. We hope you can come!

St. John's Book Club is reading The Year of Living Biblically. It isn't too late to join us. Discussions are scheduled for Sundays October 28 and November 4 between services, 9:15 a.m. to 10:15 a.m. For an excerpt, see the website: www.ajjacobs.com/books/yolb.asp.

Contact Claudia D'Agostino (905-885-4824 or dagostino.ac@sympatico.ca) for more information, to sign-up or to suggest a book for the future.

The Halloween Spooktacular Kid's Party will be held at the Parish Hall from 6 until 8:30 p.m. on October 26. There will be games and treats for all who attend. If you are able to assist in this fun filled evening, please contact a member of the Parish Life Committee or Bev Kelly.

Welcome to the first edition of our new monthly newsletter, the Eaglet!

The Eaglet will provide an opportunity to keep you updated about parish news and events on a more frequent basis, but will not replace the full version of The Eagle newsletter that you are used to receiving. The Eaglet is one of the first initiatives to come from our new communications committee. The role of the committee is to facilitate the internal and external communications of the parish; including management of the parish website, newsletters, bulletin boards and other advertising. The committee was established by the Advisory Board and is comprised of: Gary Curtis, Dave Goucher, Rose Perry, Elaine Simmons, Steve White and myself, Shane Watson (chairperson).

In addition to The Eagle and the Eaglet, our bulletin boards at the back of the church are a good way to keep pace with news in the parish. Thanks to Elaine, they have been spruced up and so finding information on them should be easier. If you have something you'd like to post, please pass it along to Elaine or another committee member.

Communications is a two-way street and so we're here to listen to your feedback, not just deliver information to you. Feel free to get in touch with myself or another committee member to share your comments, questions or ideas about how we can communicate better with you.
